Buckeye Industries wants to share the many new and exciting things that are happening with the business community, such as the new center in Eastlake that opened last fall offering Styrofoam™ recycling. “Business is booming”, states Kent Coleman, Project Manager, “because of the incredible support from the community. Once a business owner understands the convenience and the benefits for their business and the environment, they see it as a win-win situation.”

Madison has increased its document destruction production capacity by 110% due to the addition of new shredding and baling equipment. Shredding has been a successful venture for Buckeye Industries from the beginning. They also offer janitorial services and outsourced production work. Individuals with developmental disabilities who are trained for specific tasks perform all services.

The individuals, who take great pride in their work, will be on hand to meet and greet all of the guests. This will be a wonderful opportunity for business to see firsthand how Buckeye Industries can benefit their companies while helping individuals with disabilities in their community.
